

Official Site of the Delaware Tribe of Indians

<http://delawaretribe.org> Official site of the Delaware Tribe of Indians. A great resource for investigating contemporary issues involving the Delaware, created from a unique perspective.

Lenape Lifeways Educational Programs

<http://www.lenapelifeways.org/lenape1.htm>

Lenape Lifeways Educational Programs, is a not-for-profit organization “dedicated to the preservation and interpretation of the prehistory of New Jersey and the surrounding region.” This resource provides a good overview of the history and culture of the Lenape, geared towards younger students, that could easily be adapted for classroom use.

Manahatta to Manhattan: Smithsonian National Museum of the American Indian

http://nmai.si.edu/sites/1/files/pdf/education/Manahatta_to_manhattan.pdf

A great resource regarding the history of the Lenape native to the Manhattan area.

Penn Treaty Museum

<http://www.penntreatymuseum.org/americans.php>

An excellent resource regarding the following categories: Lenape Homeland, Lenape Population (past and present), Lenape Language, Lenape Subdivisions, and Lenape History.

When Cultures Collide: The Story of the Esopus Natives and their Encounter with European Colonization in Ulster County

http://ulstercountyny.gov/archives/downloads/cultures/When_Cultures_Collide-Full.pdf

A very thorough curriculum created by Susan Stessin-Cohn and published by the Ulster County Clerk’s Office. The curriculum focuses on lesson plans based off of primary sources and artifacts.

Hudson Valley Magazine: The Native People of the Hudson Valley (July, 2016)

<http://www.hvmag.com/Hudson-Valley-Magazine/July-2016/The-Native-People-of-the-Hudson-Valley/>

This resource tells the story of Hudson Valley Native Americans with focus on the Esopus Wars, and some interesting history regarding the translation of Lenape words that have remained commonly used in our area. The article also includes contemporary history of the Lenape and interviews with Joseph Diamond, a professor from SUNY New Paltz.

The Esopus Wars: A History of the Battle Between the Dutch and Local American Indians in the 1660 Hudson Valley Magazine (October, 2013)

<http://www.hvmag.com/Hudson-Valley-Magazine/November-2013/The-Esopus-Wars-A-History-of-the-Battle-Between-the-Dutch-and-Local-American-Indians-in-the-1660s/>

This resource does a great job summarizing the events and issues surrounding the Esopus Wars, and makes useful historical connections to the development of New Paltz.

Journal of the Second Esopus War: by Captain Martin Kregier 1663 Primary Source

http://www.hudsonrivervalley.org/library/pdfs/articles_books_essays/EsopusJournal1663.pdf

This is one of the few primary sources available pertaining to the Esopus Wars. Kregier's journal, in its entirety, is challenging to read, but provides rich opportunities for copying select passages for student use.

Before Hudson: 8,000 Years of Native American History and Culture. An Exhibit Based on Archaeological Finds from Historic Huguenot Street.

<https://www.hrvh.org/exhibit/hhsbeforehudson/>

A great local resource that provides access to the Historic Huguenot Street collection of Native American artifacts. The artifact library includes a timeline of Lenape history, and photographs of projectile points and pottery created by the Esopus.