Happy Friday New Paltz High School Families!

I cannot believe that we just concluded our first full week of school. Thank you to all the faculty and staff that have gone above and beyond to make this possible. Thank you to our students for embarking on a new school year full of anticipation. The building has been abuzz with the excitement of students as they attended in person classes with teachers and peers. The bright energy in the air is invigorating as we are off to a great start. This year our goal is to return a sense of normalcy to the school environment whenever possible. We are working diligently to ensure that students can engage in all of the wonderful academic and extracurricular activities that NPHS has to offer.

Thank you for your support,
Samuelle
